Guest Artist Search

The W&L Repertory Dance Company is looking for 3–5 choreographers for the 2018–19 season as part of our annual guest artist series.

Submission deadline is August 1, 2018.

W&L Repertory Dance is the performing dance company within Washington and Lee University in beautiful, rural, Western Virginia. We believe that dance is an essential form of human expression that celebrates creative collaboration and critical engagement with our world. Through the dance program, our students become well versed in critical analysis and learn to view the world from multiple perspectives. Our community is comprised of individuals who contribute to the world with unique and individual voices.

Through the dynamic W&L dance program, along with two fully produced concerts on campus every year, dancers have performed at the Ailey Citibank Theatre, Center for Performance Research, Green Space, and Dixon Place in New York, the Corcoran Gallery of Art in Washington DC, and the Festival Fringe in Edinburgh, among others. Past guest artists have included International artist and Fulbright winner Charlotte Boye-Christensen, Autumn Eckman of Giordano Dance Chicago, Doran Raz from Batsheva, Nicole Wolcott from Keigwin + Company, Jordan Kriston from Pilobolus, Arachne Aerial Arts, and Lauren Edson from Trey McIntyre Project, among others.

Submission Guidelines:
• Upload one modern/contemporary dance piece to vimeo, youtube, etc. We will be selecting pieces based on viewing the full work. The work you submit will be the piece set on the company. Work may not exceed twelve minutes. Pieces that are non–gender specific for 3–15 dancers are encouraged. (We are not commissioning the creation of new work.)
• Please send an email to daviesj@wlu.edu with the subject line Guest Artist 2018–2019. Include a description of the work, your CV, and include the link to the work you’d like to set.
• Guest Artists will receive a stipend and reimbursement for travel and meals.
• Selected artists will be notified in the fall.
